

Associated Press awards to two Telegraph writers

LENNY INGRASSIA

Lenny Ingrassia won first place in news reporting in the Illinois Associated Press Contest and Mike Cuniff, sports editor, won second place for a sports column.

The winning news story reported Associate Judge Martin D. Hill's ruling Mrs. Judith Willard was in conflict of interest as a member of the Dixon Board of Education because her husband, Merlin, is an instructor at Dixon High School.

Cuniff describes his winning column as a "tongue-in-cheek" comment about the Chicago Cubs' need for a second baseman.

Ingrassia's story was published March 5, and Cuniff's column appeared in The Telegraph on March 12.

This is the second award In-grassia has won this year. Recently he placed second in the Illinois Press Association news writing contest for a feature story concerning Duane Andrews, 1011 Hill Drive, who lost a leg following a motorcycle accident while he was off duty as a state policeman and his unsuccessful attempts to retain his position.

The Ohio AP Association

judged the most recent contest and in regard to Ingrassia's story commented it was "concise and to the point," and contained direct quotations from each person mentioned in the article and had legal ramifications which extended beyond the local area.

Other winners in the news story category were The Sterling Daily Gazette and the La Salle News-Tribune and other sports writing winners were the Gazette and the Edwardsville Intelligencer.

The group of AP newspapers with which The Telegraph competes are those with circulations of not more than 20,000. This newspaper's circulation is 11,600.

The Chicago Daily News was the big winner among Chicago newspaper, with eight awards in that division.

In the category of newspapers with circulations between 20,000 and 100,000 winners were Waukegan, Rockford, East St. Louis, Danville, and Kankakee.

The awards will be presented at the meeting of Illinois AP Editors Association to be held Oct. 10-12 in Carbondale.

Won't run for re-election, says Pat Ward

At a morning press conference, State's Atty. Patrick E. Ward announced he will not file for a second term in office.

Ward cited a "long-standing personal commitment" made before his election to office, as his reason for bowing out of the 1976 election. He said he plans to continue practicing law in Dixon on a private basis.

Ward took the opportunity to blast the recently approved pay bill boosting the state's attorneys salaries to $42,600 from $23,000 annually. "I think it's outrageously high for a county this size," Ward charged. The new bill, which goes into effect in 1976, prohibits private practice by a state's attorney. Ward said he enjoys his private practice "and I'm not prepared to leave it."

"I believe it's time to turn the office over to a new face," Speaking of a second term in office, he said, "I've never believed in a political dynasty."

He expressed appreciation to his office staff, the courts, county officers, police and sheriff's department personnel and the general public for their cooperation.

Ward took office Dec. 4, 1972, after defeating Albert Kennedy. His present term expires in December, 1976.

Investigator says mental patients are being shuffled

WASHINGTON (AP) — State mental institutions in the Chicago area are shuffling patients between hospital wards and old, decaying shelters as the result of a drive to reduce hospital populations, an investigator told Congress.

Since shortly after the state began releasing patients from hospitals to private, profit-making "shelter care homes," 60 per cent of those admitted to mental hospitals are readmissions, the investigator said.

"The state has continued its discharge policy despite every indication that it merely leads to a 'revolving door,'" said J. Terrence Brunner, executive director of the Better Government Association.

Brunner testified Monday before the Senate subcommittee on long-term care, explaining the findings of a probe his organization conducted this year of mental facilities for the elderly.

He said patients discharged from the hospital wards often wind up in a section of Chicago known as Uptown, which contains the heaviest concentration of former mental patients in Illinois.

"It has become the chief depository of former mental patients because of its abundance of old, decaying, unprofitable hotels that can easily be converted into profitable subsidized shelter care homes," he said.

He said the neighborhood contains anywhere from 3,000 to 15,000 former mental patients.

Brunner said that at Fellowship House, one of the facilities on Chicago's West Side, narcotic drugs with a considerable street value were improperly stockpiled but that an Illinois Department of Public Health inspection did not uncover this.

Limited exposure for Ford in Chicago appearance tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford flies to the Midwest late today on an overnight trip tailored to limit his exposure to the general public and ease the job of protecting him.

Ford's journey to Chicago and Omaha will be his first outside Washington since Sept. 22 when a woman in San Francisco fired a shot in his direction, the second apparent assassination attempt in 17 days.

All of Ford's appearances in Illinois and Nebraska will be before groups whose members can be screened in advance by Secret Service bodyguards.

Ford's schedule does not call for him to mingle with crowds or stand in an open car as he often has done in other cities.

Several motorcades were planned, but it was understood he would ride in closed, armor-protected cars and that White House advance agents were avoiding traditional efforts to drum up street crowds along his routes.

Chicago police reported an unidentified caller late Monday night told them he had knowledge of a plot to assassinate Ford when he arrives in Chicago.

Police Communications said the caller, described as a man with a deep voice, said he was not involved but knew that there was a plan to kill Ford when he arrives at the military side of O'Hare International Airport.

The office of deputy superintendent of police reported that the call could not be tracked down but that the Secret Service had been notified.

No plans for additional security were announced immediately as a result of the call.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said last week that there would be adjustments in security procedures and that Ford's tentative plans for heavy travel in October were being reviewed.

The President had planned for some time to make the trip to Chicago and Omaha, but there were indications that security considerations prompted him to scale down the number of appearances in both cities.

For example, the White House had made tentative preparations for the President to appear Wednesday at a student news conference on the Evansville, Ill., campus of Northwestern University north of Chicago.

Instead, Ford will meet in his suburban hotel suite with a group of about 30 mayors from the Chicago suburbs and smaller communities in Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin.

Rather than stay at a hotel in downtown Chicago, as he has in the past, Ford will spend Tuesday night in suburban Skokie. It was widely believed that security considerations prompted this departure from past practice.

Nessen said the Republican National Committee would pay the cost of the President's trip to and from Chicago because of his appearance there Tuesday night at two GOP events, a $125-a-plate fund-raising dinner for about $1,000 guests at the Conrad Hilton Hotel and a reception there afterwards for about 75 party contributors.

Federal funds will be used to finance the Omaha leg of the President's journey. He will fly there Wednesday for a local filmed television interview, then appear at a White House-sponsored conference on domestic policy drawing participants from Nebraska and Iowa.

Offered $25,000 to kill President, undercover agent tells probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — An undercover agent of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms was offered $25,000 within the past month to kill President Ford, the director of the bureau said today.

Rex D. Davis, in a statement prepared for a Senate subcommittee investigating the Secret Service, said the individual who approached the agent was arrested the day following the offer, after sufficient evidence was gathered.

Secret Service sources said the incident occurred during Ford's visit to St. Louis, Mo., in September.

It was during that visit that a man with a .45-caliber pistol was spotted by a policeman on a catwalk in Kiel Auditorium an hour before the President was to speak there.

The man escaped despite an extensive police search, and the President delivered his speech on time and without harm.

It was not immediately clear whether that incident and the offer of money for Ford's death were related. The White House and the Secret Service would not comment.

In his statement, Davis also said his agents acquired information during the past month from an informer "relating to the informer's contact with a member of a militant organization."

"The subject was a twice-convicted felon armed with three highpowered rifles and a possible automatic weapon," Davis said. "The felon indicated he was en route to a city where a meeting with a militant organization was to take place to discuss the President's scheduled visit to that city."

In his prepared statement, Davis made no other mention of the $25,000 offer to kill Ford, except to say it occurred in a Midwestern city during September.

Davis made the disclosures while detailing examples of cooperation between his bureau and the Secret Service.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, whose department is responsible for the Secret Service, defended the agents as "highly competent, well-trained individuals and, as they have shown time and time again, they are also wholly dedicated to their mission."

The investigation by the Senate subcommittee on Treasury, Postal Service and general government appropriations, follows two assassination attempts on President Ford within 17 days.

Subcommittee Chairman Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., said the hearings were being held "to examine our options and look for solutions" to the problems confronting the agency whose best known job is the protection of the President.

"We must make sure that adequate resources — money and manpower — have been made available to the Secret Service," Montoya said.

Secret Service Director H. Stuart Knight asked the panel for a supplemental appropriation, saying it was needed "to handle the increased demand upon the Secret Service."

He said the number of persons protected by the Secret Service has more than doubled, increasing from 57 to 132, in the past three years.

A subcommittee staff member said the Secret Service also was expected to ask for additional funds to guard the 1976 candidates.

The protection had been planned to begin in January. Then, after two assassination attempts on Ford within 17 days, it was decided the protection should start Wednesday. The Treasury Department announced Monday that protection would be offered to six candidates.

The subcommittee also will explore whether more agents or special programs would assist the agency.

New Postal Service program Patrons invited to air their complaints

WASHINGTON (AP) — Did that package marked "fragile" arrive in your mailbox in a battered condition? Did this month's girlie magazine arrive dog-eared with the centerfold torn out?

Now you can tell it to the post office.

Beginning Wednesday, the Postal Service is launching a program that will invite disgruntled postal patrons to air their complaints.

Unhappy customers will be able to obtain a "consumer service card" from post offices and from letter carriers. The complaints written on the card will get quick attention, the Postal Service says.

The new system will "let us know, in a quick and simple way, about service problems," Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar said in announcing the program.

Bailar's announcement came before the House voted Monday to revoke the Postal Service's financial independence as a result of dissatisfaction with the way the service operates.

The campaign "reflects our feeling that the idea of good service must mean more than the speed of delivery. It involves responsiveness and understanding, too," Bailar said.

The Postal Service decided on the national program after trying out the consumer service card this summer in Arizona, Illinois, Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

The number of complaints over the six-week test period in the four states was 9,890. In the same period last year there were 7,473 complaints taken to postal officials by residents of those states.

The consumer service card is a two-piece card, two postal cards with carbon paper between them. After filling out the top copy, the two cards can be separated.

One of the prepaid postal cards goes to the local postmaster. The other goes to the Postal Service's Office of Consumer Affairs in Washington.

After acting on the complaint, the local postmaster is to explain on the reverse side of his copy of the card how the problem was handled. Then, he is to mail his copy of the card to Washington.

Meanwhile, in Washington, the information from the other card is used to create an index of consumer satisfaction.

Patty Hearst taken to hospital for mental tests

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst was taken by federal marshals from her Redwood City jail cell today and driven to the Stanford University Medical Center for psychiatric testing, a spokesman for the center said.

Miss Hearst also was taken on Monday to the center less than 10 miles south of the San Mateo County Jail for a three-hour examination by Dr. Donald Lunde, said medical center spokesman Spyros Andreopoulos.

Lunde is one of four specialists appointed by U.S. District Judge Oliver J. Carter to determine whether Miss Hearst is mentally competent to be cross-examined.

A hearing on the psychiatrists' findings that was scheduled for today was postponed when Miss Hearst's attorneys reported the tests had not been completed.

Carter said the prosecution would seek to cross-examine Miss Hearst on an affidavit in which she swore she was tortured and brainwashed by her Symbionese Liberation Army captors.

SLA member Emily Harris said, meanwhile, that Miss Hearst was tricked by her parents into signing the affidavit.

"Who is brainwashing whom?" Mrs. Harris said Monday in a statement taped from her jail cell in Los Angeles.

She described Miss Hearst as a "truly beautiful woman who is being manipulated by her parents" into abandoning her SLA comrades, Mrs. Harris and her SLA soldier-husband William.

"Since our capture, the Hearst empire has put into motion all the power and influence that blood money can buy. The two of us are the sacrifices this time," Mrs. Harris said.

Meanwhile, one of Miss Hearst's attorneys said at a San Francisco news conference Monday that psychiatrists had expressed concern that she might try to commit suicide if she is forced to remain in her San Mateo County jail cell.

Attorney Terence Hallinan said Miss Hearst's mental health is rapidly deteriorating in the jail.

"She's been spaced out. It's harder to get her to talk. She becomes overwhelmed by tears much faster. She cannot even begin to get into these areas that her mind has closed on," Hallinan said.

Hallinan said Miss Hearst should be transferred immediately from the jail to a hospital for psychiatric treatment.

In other developments in the Hearst case:

—U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter postponed for one week a hearing scheduled today on Miss Hearst's mental competence to be cross-examined. The judge was told that psychiatrists' tests on the heiress were not ready.

—Steven Soliah, a 27-year-old housepainter, pleaded innocent Monday to charges of harboring Miss Hearst and being an accessory after the fact.

Image vs. the real man

By RONALD REAGAN
Public figures acquire "images" which may accurately reflect what they say and do or may instead reflect the reaction to them by the news media. As tastes and issues change, some images may change, but others may stubbornly stay the same, even though they should change.

The images of two U.S. Presidents, for example: Calvin Coolidge and Dwight Eisenhower.

Coolidge, the dry, unexciting New Englander, is more often than not remembered as a lackluster, almost laughable figure who just happened to occupy the White House for awhile.

Eisenhower, though remembered with affection and respect for his great military accomplishments, has the image, as President, of a genial golf player who didn't stir things up much and who—in the main—presided over a country that rode at anchor for eight years. The late John Kennedy, who followed him, actually campaigned on the slogan, "Get the country moving again."

Are these images true or false? Consider this:

H. L. Mencken said Cal Coolidge has been "weaned on a pickle." Was Coolidge a do-nothing president in one of those lulls in our nation's history? If so, we should have such lulls today.

There was a better-than-full employment. Jobs were competing for workers. The cost of living went down 2.3 per cent.

The federal budget was actually reduced and some of the national debt accumulated in World War I was paid off.

During "Silent Cal's" presidency the number of automobiles owned by Americans tripled and a new industry—radio—went from $60 million in annual sales to $842 million. They laughed when Calvin Coolidge said, "The business of America is business," but we had true peace and prosperity—those things we are promised so often, but given so seldom.

In the "Eisenhower years"—1952 to 1960—we were told an entire college generation was "apathetic" and had stagnated (perhaps because they didn't burn down the campus libraries). Yet, Ike ended a war in Korea that had killed tens of thousands of young Americans. For the rest of his eight years in office none were being shot at anywhere in the world.

Ike also halted—dead in its tracks—the advance of communism.

And, Big Government didn't get any bigger. A citizen could go for an evening stroll in the park without getting bopped over the head. Wages went up steadily, but prices held. Steak was 85 cents a pound and a gallon of gas cost 29 cents. You could be well-dressed in a $50 suit and a pair of $9 shoes.

The workday and the workweek grew shorter and our taxes were reduced. Suddenly, more kids were going to college than ever before; more families were buying homes; never had our nation's wealth been so widely distributed; and we were so strong that no one in the world thought of challenging us.

You'll have to make up your own mind about the image versus the real man, but maybe we ought to go back and see what they did that we aren't doing today.

Take it from Here

REFLECTIONS—The next 100 years in agriculture will see the plow, the symbol of that industry, go into oblivion as the horse-drawn carriage and the buggy whip have gone in times past. This is the opinion of Don Paarlberg, director of economics for the United States Department of Agriculture.

Some time ago, Dr. Paarlberg addressed a group of agricultural historians and took a look forward, rather than backward.

Predicting the shape of agriculture 100 years hence, he suspects the plow will gradually be retired as modern man, who equipped with technology brought more and more land under tillage and expanded crop yields through the use of commercial fertilizers, begins to learn the wisdom of the Indian.

It is reported an Indian when he first saw a plowed field exclaimed it was "Wrong side up."

Dr. Paarlberg observed incalculable damage has been done to the land by wind and by water erosion resulting from the use of the plow and foresees farmers will learn to grow crops using minimum tillage and to control weeds with biodegradable chemicals and to apply mulches to keep in place, "What's left of our soil."

The ag economist believes science and technology will guide the agricultural industry but feels the unquestioned acceptance of science as a benefactor of the human race will be challenged.

Dr. Paarlberg anticipates agriculture technology will serve man in the years to come by providing solutions to some land and plant under utilization.

These needed answers to increased agriculture production include:

Developing a higher protein content in cereal and in other crops.

The hybridization of more crops. Improved soil management techniques so man can farm the soil in the tropical rain forests.

Developing more reliance on biological than on chemicals to control insects and diseases.

Discovering how to control the tsetse fly which would allow Africa to open vast areas of idle land for farming.

Utilization of better weather forecasting and achieving some modification of weather.

Through more research, finding ways to extend the principle of nitrogen fixation to plants other than legumes which will reduce the need for commercial fertilizers.

Desalination of sea water will become in common use and will permit human habitation and farming on lands now not usable.

Technology will probably develop nuclear power as the energy of the future.

The coming years will see greater environmental controls for both plants and animals. This change will usher in a period of production which will be greater, more economical and have more quality.

Advances in food technology will increase plant protein and develop meat substitutes to feed the world's hungry who cannot afford meat, milk and eggs.

Family planning will be more widely practiced so the population will not multiply faster than the world's ability to produce enough food for everyone.

The USDA's economist suggested the family farmer will fade away as agricultural production begins to demand land, capital and managerial skill which cannot be expected to be supplied by one individual.

When the day of commercial agriculture arrives, Dr. Paarlberg predicted what will most resemble the family farmer will be an operator who lives on the land, rents his farm, borrows his operating capital and hires his labor and makes his own decision.

He foresees there will always be part-time farmers who combine agriculture activities with off-farm jobs.

Dr. Paarlberg noted Americans spent most of the first 200 years of their history moving from the farm to the cities, and prognosticated the next century will see more people looking to the country for a place to live.

"Two centuries from now the 'city limits' signs will have lost their significance. They will mark a boundary between units of government; they will have limited social and economic distinctions," presaged the agricultural economist.

Dr. Paarlberg prophesied the next 200 years will see reforestation of lands which were denuded during the first two centuries of the development of the United States.

He noted during much of the U.S. history efforts were made to transfer lands from public domain to private ownership. The economist forecasted future years will find national policy trying to determine the legitimate public interest in privately held lands.

"Should, for example, the competitive market alone continue to determine whether lands should be used for cropping, timber, mining, recreation, industry, airports or flood control?" asked Dr. Paarlberg and concluded, "We are in a transitional period in regard to land use policy, and it will be a major issue in the years ahead."

Voice of the people

Best place to clean up politics

First, let me state I am not a voter in Lee County but I would like to air some thoughts that have come to mind because of the charges of political overtones in the Dixon city election probe and subsequent indictments.

The saying goes that charity starts at home. Well, seems to me so does everything else. If we don't teach our children properly at home, they won't be ready even for nursery school, right? If we don't give them proper morals at home, how are they to know what's right or wrong?

The same thing pertains to politics. If we don't clean them up at home, how can we expect higher governments, such as state and federal, to be clean? Just because someone does something wrong, and doesn't get caught or no one else complains, does that then make it right?

Winning an election by illegally securing absentee votes in a local election, doesn't it lead to ballot stuffing in the state and national elections?

Where would Nixon be if he had not been cheated out of the 1960 presidential election because of ballot stuffing in Texas and Chicago? Would he be the dead "martyred" President instead of John F. Kennedy? And where would President Kennedy be today?

Think about it. Would we have had a Watergate incident? Maybe Nixon was trying to keep the same thing from happening to him again.

Isn't it better to pull the weeds out by the roots, if you can, than to just keep having to mow them over and over again, wasting time and energy?

Thank you,
Angela Rester

Campaign reform: worse than before

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Dear Federal Election Commission: "May newspaper subscriptions be paid out of the campaign fund?"

"Does the new Federal Election Law supersede state campaign regulations, or must state laws be adhered to separately?"

"Is there any limitation as to time that contributions can be accepted subsequent to the election?"

The Congressional Record recently carried 22 pages in fine print on questions about, and advisory opinions and notices by, the new Federal Elections Commission—one of a continuing series of such "informatives" on policies and guidelines.

"Can a wife in a single-income family make a contribution to a candidate if the husband has contributed $1,000?"

"Can a partner, officer or member of a corporation or business holding a federal contract make a personal contribution?"

Though I have spent 24 years studying political campaign laws and practices, I found many of the Commission's regulations and advisory opinions confusing beyond belief.

So, apparently, have experienced congressmen, major old-line political committees and long-time donors—many of whom possess legal training.

The confusion is so general Sen. Lee Metcalf (D-Mont.) was moved to note "the complexities of the . . . Act . . . suggest that the least of the worries of those seeking political office should be defeat at the polls. Where the greater risk lies today is in winning—and then having to devote the bulk of one's time for the next two to six years to continuing analysis of campaign laws and regulations."

The list of those writing in for information on how the clean election law works, in fact, is beginning to read like a roster of the Senate and House of Representatives. This makes one wonder how these men were able to vote intelligently on the bill as it moved through their hands.

"An office holder mails out newsletters during regular intervals under a franking privilege, but the printing expenses of the newsletters are paid for by a committee . . . Are such expenditures permissible . . . ?"

Are expenses such as lunches in Washington for constituents "ordinary and necessary expenses incurred in connection with my duties as a federal office holder?"

Are the costs of voter opinion surveys counted against the campaign expenditures of an incumbent senator?

"Are expenses incurred by a candidate for legal and accounting fees paid for the purpose of complying with the Federal Election Campaign Act . . . expenditures for the purpose of a candidate's campaign expenditures limit?"

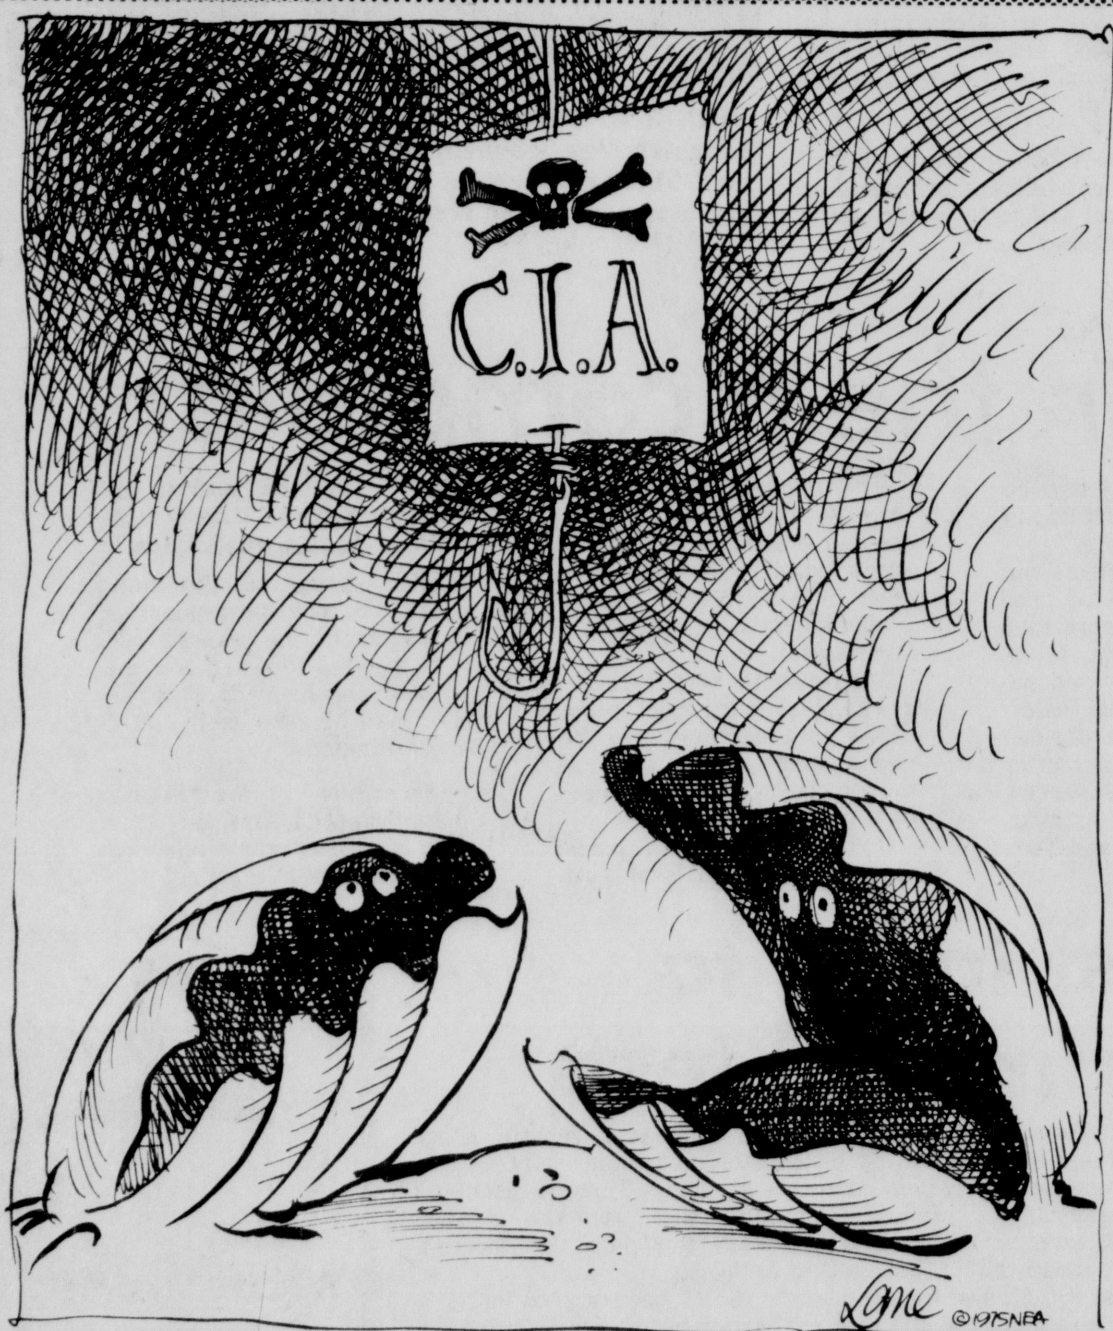

May a member of Congress be reimbursed for travel expenses he incurs in connection with political appearances in his congressional district?

Are expenditures by a congressman's office account to be counted against the limitations applied to a general election campaign, or should they be counted against the primary spending ceiling?

"If I, as a member of Congress, elect to use leftover campaign funds for legitimate office expenses, will these expenditures be counted" against the campaign spending ceiling?

These are the least complicated of the questions being asked. To outline the more difficult would take more space than this column has available.

The plain and simple fact is that this is an impossible law, so contradictory, so filled with loopholes, and so intricate that it will be necessary to evolve an encyclopedia of regulations too detailed for any candidate to understand even when advised by legal batteries.

"They don't want shellfish that taste good, Charlie . . ."

The power to tax may also be the power to destroy, as Chief Justice John Marshall observed long ago, but it is the government's power to regulate their every activity and to inquire into the minutest aspects of their lives that can drive Americans to distraction.

In a recent statement to the Senate Public Works Committee, for example, one major automaker complained that testing requirements for complying with federal auto pollution standards are becoming a "bureaucratic nightmare."

If all the paperwork generated for emissions certification of its 1975 models were placed in a single pile, it would reach about 200 feet high, the company said. It also cost $24 million, required 284 test cars, nearly a million and quarter man-hours and 5.2 million miles of test driving. Certification requirements for 1976 are even more complex and costly.

In a totally unrelated field, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is erecting another mountain of paperwork.

Paperwork deters progress

A new directive from HEW to the chief school administrators of the 50 states requires that school districts containing children who speak little or no English "must, at a minimum, determine the language spoken in the student's home, regardless of the language spoken by the student, the language most often spoken by the student in the home and the language spoken by the student in the social setting (by observation)."

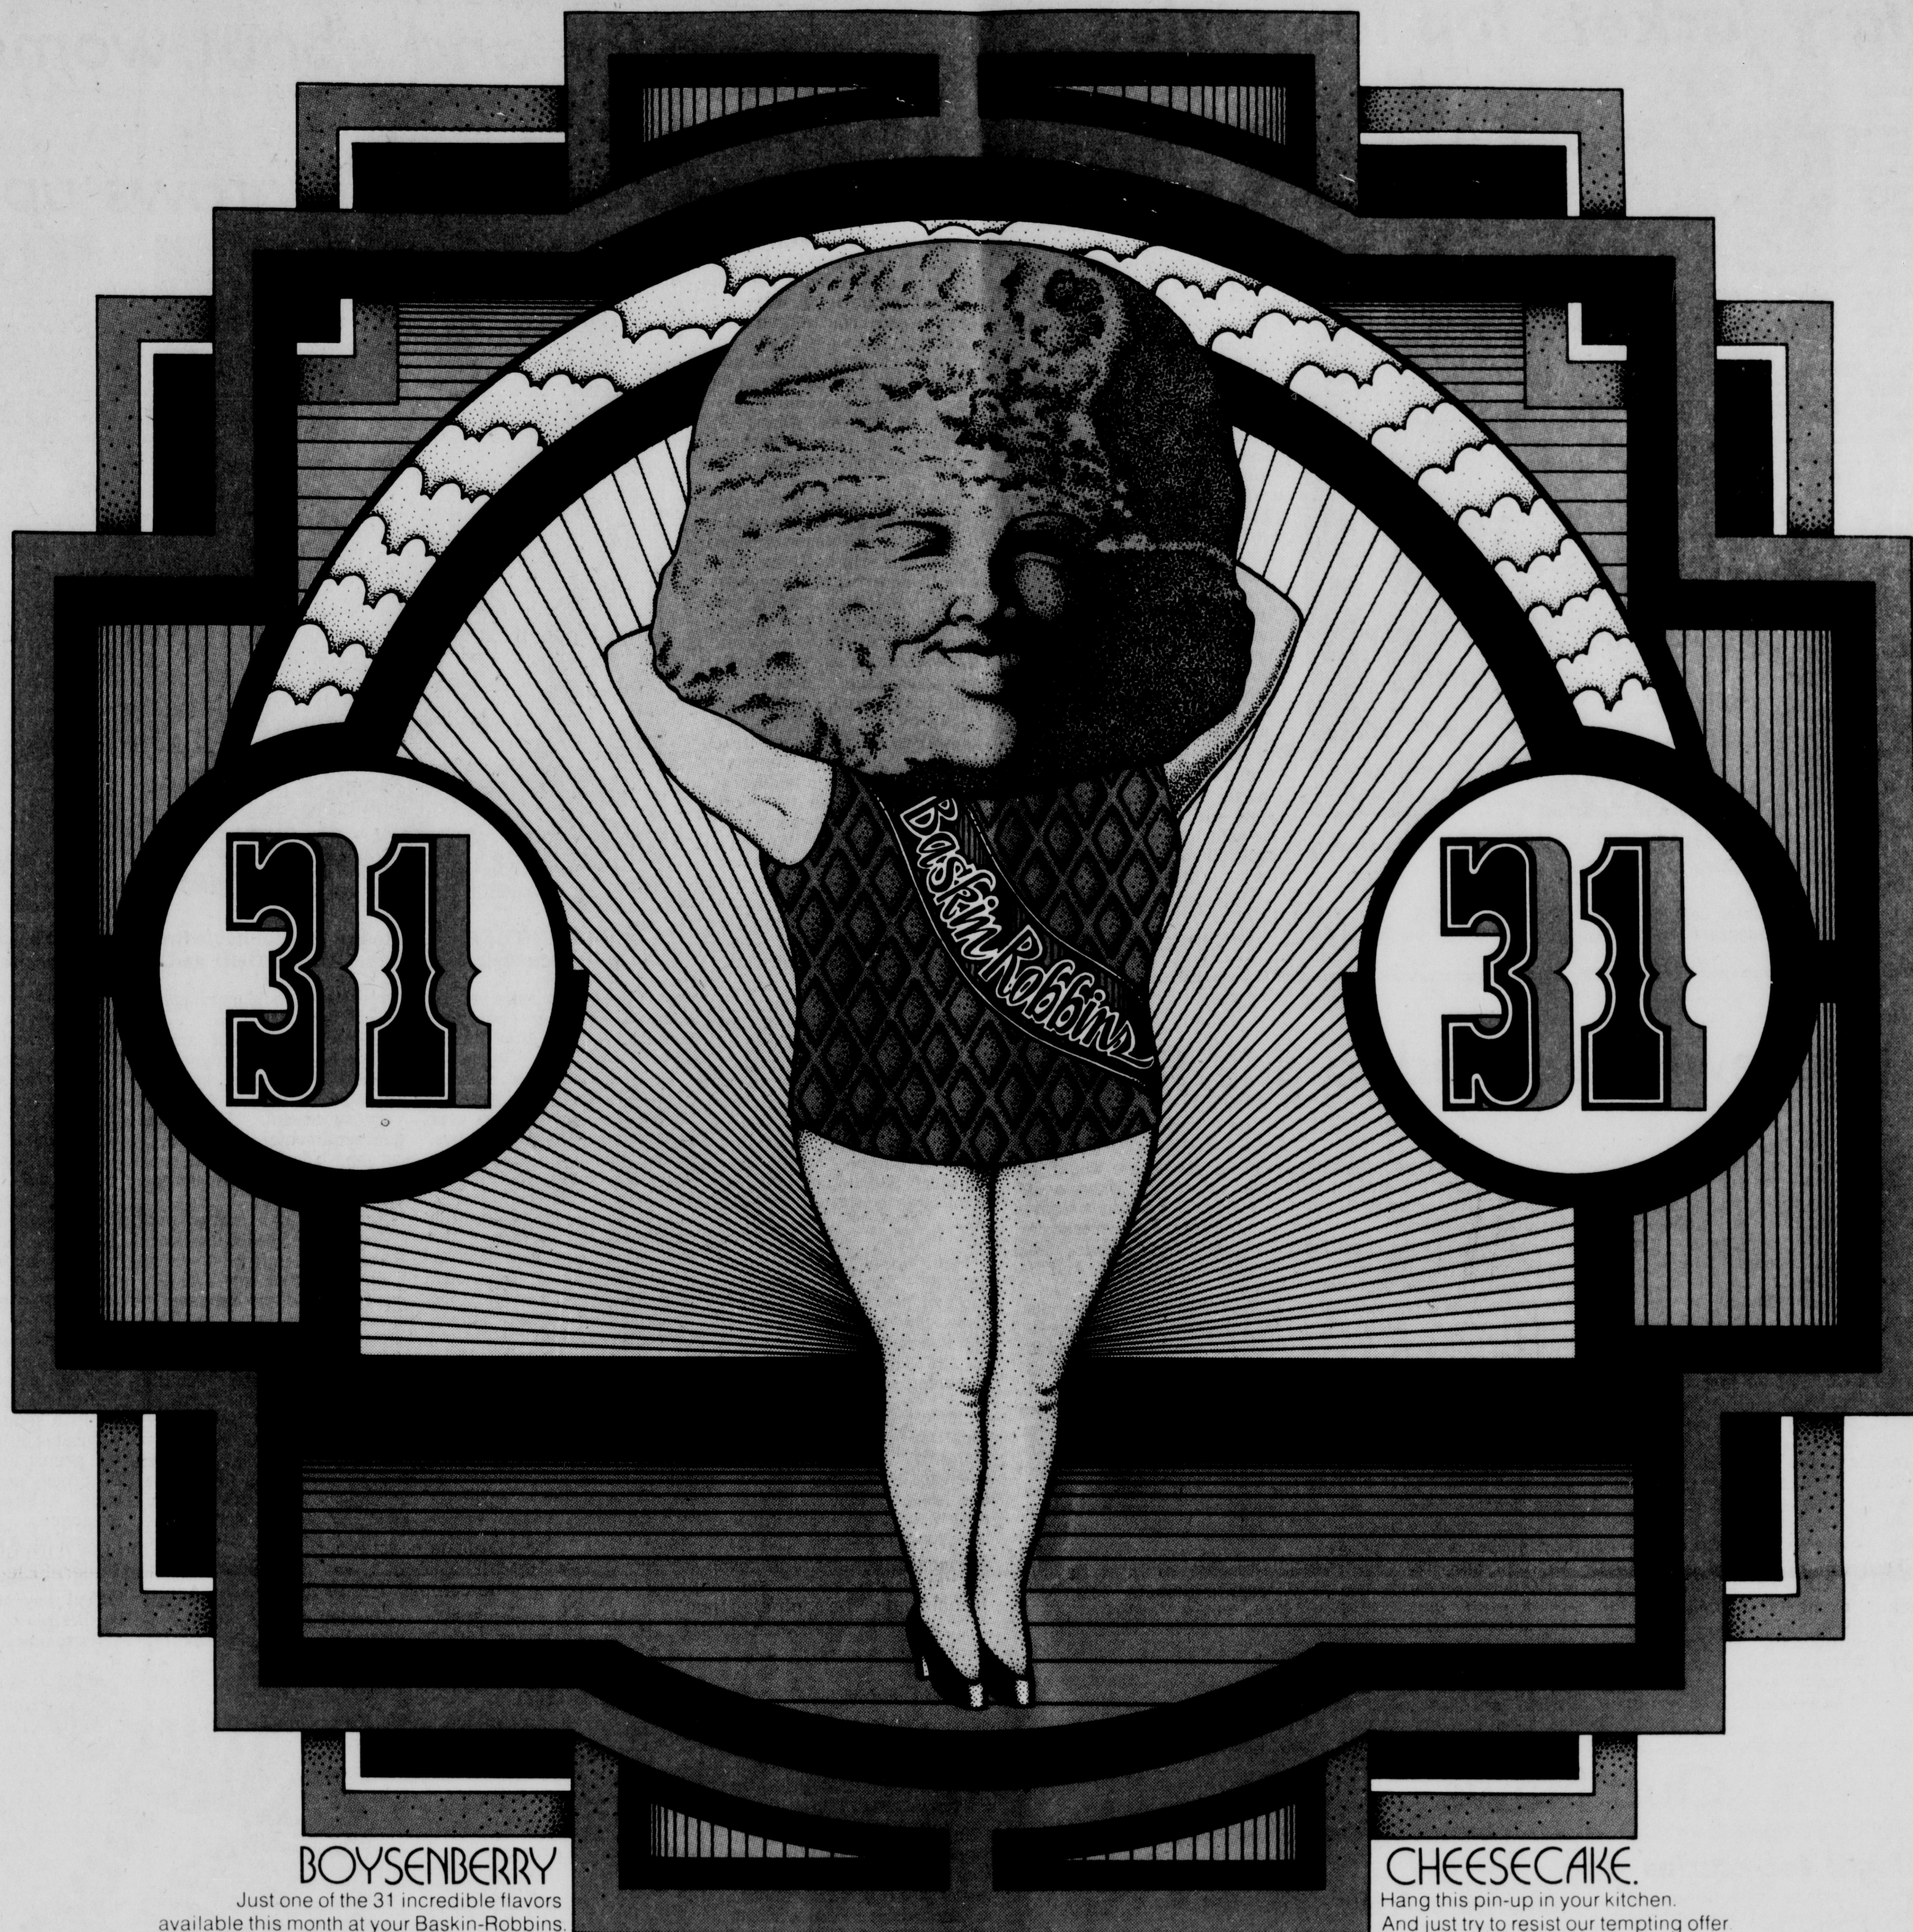

Just in case they have any time left over after all that, HEW has also told the nation's 16,000 public school systems that they must begin keeping detailed discipline records to help the government determine if minority students are being punished more often than white students.

Like the fight against automobile pollution, it's all in a good cause, of course, as part of a study being conducted by HEW to determine if school districts with national minority children are violating the 1964 Civil Rights Act, which prohibits federal funds for discriminatory programs or activities.

But it would seem that if non-English-speaking children are having problems in school—and undoubtedly many of them are—it would make more sense to encourage special English language courses for them than to require harried administrators to observe the language spoken by a student in the "social setting" and to investigate and report on the language spoken in a student's home—"regardless of the language spoken by the student."

Fortunately, the order does not apply, at least for this school year, to schools faced with an influx of refugee Vietnamese children, nor is it retroactive to those millions of people who came off the boats in the 19th century and early decades of the 20th century speaking no English. Left to sink or swim linguistically, these new Americans did quite well—so well, indeed, that many of their descendants now occupy important offices in Washington, from which they issue important directives.

Military jackets top fall styles

By JUDY LOVE

Sweaters are an important part of the fall and winter fashion forecast this year. There are styles to suit everybody—long wrap sweaters in ethnic patterns and homespun yarns, clingy lightweight knits that recall the siren look of the 1920s, and tailored jackets for playing down figure problems.

One popular sweater-jacket has styling details that give it a military look reminiscent of the French gendarmes (police) strolling their beats in Paris. Saddle shoulders, button-cuff sleeves and a fitted waistline make it an impeccable ensemble when teamed with pants or a tailored skirt.

Designed for anyone who has mastered basic knitting techniques, it combines the stockinette stitch in the body with knit stitching on the cuffs, collar and waistline to create texture. Six wooden or tortoise-shell buttons add visual interest.

You'll need a quick-knitting yarn like Bernat's Big Berella Bulky which comes in 4-ounce balls. Directions are for sizes Small (8-10), Medium (12-14), and Large (16-18). It takes 6 balls to knit size Small, 7 for Medium and Large. No. 11 knitting needles and a size K (7mm.) crochet hook will help you get your sweater ready in time for cool weather.

Instructions for sizes Small, Medium and Large can be ordered by sending 50 cents to

Knit-Knacks

We've had a number of letters asking for ideas for using left-over yarn. Also for ideas of projects that Brownie groups and Cub Scout dens can make. Here's an idea for making a useful napkin holder which is fun to do. You will need 5 yards of any handknitting yarn, plastic bottle on the order of a liquid detergent bottle, crochet hook, something to punch holes in the plastic bottle (hole puncher, hammer and nail, etc.).

Cut the plastic bottle with scissors so the sides are removed and the front and back remain. Shape the front and back into a high arc (about 4 inches) by cutting the plastic until it is symmetrical. Punch holes into plastic about 1/4 inch apart and about 1/4 inch from the edge of the arc. To make the border tie the yarn to the first hole. Make chain stitches by inserting hook through the next hole, catching the yarn with a crochet hook. Pull it through the hole leaving a large loop. Draw yarn through the loop with a hook. Make chain stitch on outside of hole by catching yarn with hook and drawing through loop. Repeat the two chain stitches at each hole until border is finished.

Keep knitting. Best, Judy Love.

Brigitte Bardot at age 40

France's sex kitten grows up

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
PARIS — (NEA) — In this International Woman's Year, in the strident era of Women's Lib, there is one woman who remains impervious to change.

She is Brigitte Bardot, who has just reached the age of 40 yet manages to remain, like Ninon de Lenclos, Diane de Poitiers and other historical enchantresses, ageless and desirable.

BB, the sex kitten of the '50s, is unquestionably a very seductive 40. She will never change. She is going to be daffy and dazed with love when she is over 60. With every man (after her marriage to Roger Vadim, who projected her into stardom, there were two more husbands and a succession of lovers), she was always sure it was going to be forever. It is common knowledge in this country that Miroslav, a young Yugoslav sculptor, is the sixth in succession. But not even the most dyed-in-the-wool bourgeois censures Bardot. No Women's Libber ever showed more courage and persistence than Brigitte. Moreover, she probably never has dreamed of the meaning of female "liberty" and "equality," even in French.

She Denies Nothing

Some time ago Brigitte Bardot appeared on TV on a program entitled "Truth." Completely relaxed, she quickly explained to her interviewer that the Bardot myth, dating from the film "And God Created Woman," was a very old story. She did not repudiate it but asserted she couldn't care less.

Maturity has brought her serenity. She admitted that most of her films were near-flops. She honestly confessed she had never been possessed by the sacred fire of overwhelming success.

Her comments on the emancipation of women? "By clamoring for more and more freedom they will become more and more unhappy." She admitted she appreciated money but "money must be my slave and not I the slave of my money." Age? "The thought does not frighten me. Anyway, there's nothing anyone can do about it." So far as her movie career goes, here again she expressed her very personal philosophy: "Quit after the age of 40? Why?"

The fact remains that no Frenchwoman has, since the advent of moving pictures, ever been so internationally famous. Even in her own country, four years ago, Brigitte was adopted as the model for the symbolic bust of Marianne, which represents the symbol of the French nation. The bust is found presiding in every town hall, replacing the old one which was modelled among classic Greek lines.

Women's Lib Idiotic

B. B. made it known that she had very definite ideas on a woman's role in life. For her, Women's Lib is "idiotic."

"I may sound old hat but a woman is first meant to create a congenial home — a refuge for the warrior. It is not man's role to cook, arrange flowers, look after the children, while his wife goes out to work. I am all in favor of the new divorce laws, too, but it is wiser to think twice before marrying. After three unsuccessful marriages, I should know."

Brigitte is a great animal lover. She has campaigned for abandoned, abused animals, but admits she has not been very successful. "The public gets sentimental, may even go out and adopt an abandoned dog or cat, but it also forgets very quickly."

Again she has pointed out: "Men can be beasts too. I am somewhat allergic to humanity. I have created my own universe. I find my balance in nature."

Erotic Myth

A famous author, Andre Maurois, once wrote: "Brigitte Bardot? She is the myth of eroticism without perversion, the glorification of instinctive reactions, of innocent and total nudity." That was before the acceptance of topless or completely nude bathers at the various resorts along the Mediterranean and other shores.

Bardot, says a psychologist, is proving that at 40 she is becoming a personality, whereas before she was more especially a subject of controversy and criticism.

When asked what, having reached the age of 40, love had brought her, BB replied: "It has brought me love — that's a great deal." Once she had declared "When I am not loved I grow ugly." Another Bardot quote: "Loneliness for a man is not the same as loneliness for a woman. A man is never really alone. A woman can be, even in the prime of her youth and at the height of her beauty. I have friends, not many in whose arms I could sob, if I wanted to. Even so, I am alone, all alone in the end, as is everybody..."

In his memoirs, Roger Vadim paints a semi-sweet, semi-acid portrait of his ex-wife. "She has the genius and naive quality, the cruelty and selfishness, of a child. A ferocious need of a presence, of love, of possession: a natural gift of lying — not vicious lies, but lies which represent a simple and logical way of bending life to her desires of the moment." ## Housewife entitled to any title

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from "Professional Engineer" who is upset because a housewife wrote in and suggested that she and others who stay at home and work be called "Domestic Engineers."

While he was "pounding the books" I spent my time in doctors' offices and labor and delivery rooms. We have three sons. My "fraternity" was housework, colic, diapers and formulas.

"Professional Engineer" resents people taking his title without earning it. I wonder what he calls washing diapers with a wringer-machine, draping them over radiators to dry, getting up for 1:00 a.m. and 4:00 a.m. feedings, nursing sick kids, and giving up all social life for umpteens years. I figure I've earned any kind of title I want to hang on myself.

"Professional Engineer"

worked five years. Big deal. I've worked for nine years — and quitting time is nowhere in sight. There are millions more like me. Just sign us — Domestic Engineers, Magna Cum Laude

Dear Magna: If the title makes you feel better, go ahead and use it. You're entitled.

Dear Ann Landers: In regard to the question posed to you by a reader recently, "Can a woman be found guilty of rape?" — you quoted a prominent Chicago attorney who said, "Yes."

That answer was in reference to the possibility of a woman forcing a man to have sexual relations against his will. I read a few days ago of a landmark case in the Philippines where a woman was sentenced to life imprisonment for rape. It seems she pinned down another woman while her husband raped the woman in an attempt to introduce her to prostitution.

So — add this to your "What's The World Coming To List Of Freaky Happenings." — Philadelphia Reader

Dear Phil: The list is getting longer every day. Who needs to add to it? The case you cite in the Philippines is one where the woman was an accomplice, however, which is different from the question raised by the original writer. But thanks for informing us of the "landmark" case. It's a real weirdo.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a college sophomore with a minor problem. I live a long distance from school and don't own a car. Commuting by bus means a lot of time and money. Frequently, students who live nearby have offered me rides to school — some on a continuing basis. I appreciate the lifts very much.

Am I obliged to contribute anything to these drivers? No student goes one inch out of his way for me. There would just be an empty seat in the car if I weren't in it. Yet I don't want to be considered a freeloader. What is your opinion of this dilemma? — Betwixt And Between

Dear B & B: True, that seat might be empty if you weren't in it, but you ARE in it and it's quite a convenience, isn't it? I suggest that you offer to fill the gas tank every three or four weeks as a gesture of appreciation. This takes you out of the freeloader's category and places you among those gracious folks who know how to express gratitude.

Extra king crowns grand slam

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Today's hand is the same as yesterday's except that South has the king-deuce instead of the three-deuce of hearts.

He still responds one spade to his partner's club opening, but when North jumps to three spades South sees that his ace of diamonds and king of hearts are extra high cards in his hand. Therefore, in accordance with the rule of the ace and the king, he is one ace and one king above game and is going to bid a slam. South could use Blackwood to check for aces, but there is no hurry about that so South simply starts slam investigation by bidding four diamonds.

When North accepts the slam idea with his bid of four hearts South wants to try for seven. His five-heart bid shows second-round heart control and is a start on the way to seven.

North bids six diamonds to show second-round diamond control and an acceptance of the idea of playing at a grand slam and that should be enough for South. His partner has opened the bidding, jumped, shown first-round heart and second-round diamond control and invited seven.

He must have the king of spades and ace-king of clubs for all that bidding. So South simply closes the bidding at seven spades.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE E-680: Norman L. Cotton might well be called California's modern Paul Revere.

Recently, I described the imposition on employers at being forced to collect the taxes from their employees; then forward same to the IRS, and without even a "Thank you."

"Dr. Crane," Norman Cotton began, "this withholding system was established in 1943 as a 'temporary' measure to help win World War II."

"It was documented by Congress and the Congressional Register that the system violated the Constitution."

"But the Constitution was set aside because of the war!"

"When I received a letter from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue in which he claimed it cost only a mere half of one cent (1/2 cent) per dollar to raise our billions of taxes, I wrote him a note, exploding the cost accounting of his bureau."

"Many who read my letter seemed to think it was humorous and entertaining."

"But few realized the deadly seriousness of it!"

Naive Bureaucrats
To cite those "hidden" costs that bureaucrats at IRS ignored, study Mr. Cotton's digested rebuttal below:

(1) How about the paper and printing costs for nearly 80,000,000 Income Tax Booklets, of 194 pages each?

And the postage charge on those 80,000 booklets?

(2) Or the investment by the Federal Government in great, marble-lined IRS buildings, often occupying almost a city block?

Did that one-half cent pay for their heating, lighting, stationery, telephones, paper and even paper clips, as well as computers?

And what about the payroll costs of the hordes of bureaucrats, ranging from the Commissioner down through the clerks, office boys and janitorial service?

(3) And the terrific hidden cost, totally ignored in that meager one-half cent charge, namely, the millions of employers who were forced to collect the payroll taxes from their workers; then fill out red tape forms and remit such taxes to the IRS?

These coerced and "unpaid" tax collectors include huge corporations like General Motors, General Electric and U.S. Steel all the way down to housewives who must calculate and tabulate the deductions from wages of their gardener, cook and even regular baby-sitters.

Mr. Cotton then went on to say that if Uncle Sam likewise compelled citizens to build roads without pay and even furnish their own tools to do so, there would be a great clamor against such slavery.

But Uncle Sam seems to ignore the forced servitude of millions of employers, who furnish the tools, equipment and supplies; then not only don't receive even a "Thank you," but are fined if they are one day late in remitting the taxes of their employees!

One reason for the rapid rise in the number of people who claim to be neither Republicans nor Democrats, but are Independents is the free-spending liberal type of legislators of both those parties!

The conservative Democrats and Republicans at present don't equal more than 40 per cent vs. that spendthrift liberal 60 per cent.

There will be no hope of a balanced budget or survival of this great Republic very far into its 3rd century, unless we elect far more Congressmen of both parties who will "conserve" instead of "dissipate" both the take-home wages as well as the take-home dividends of both the worker and stockholders!

So send for my booklet "How to Save Our Republic," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of Dixon Evening Telegraph, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for one of his booklets.)

its accompanying high unemployment rate, there have been recurring reports from employers of job openings they have been unable to fill.

A survey by the National Federation of Independent Business, for example, showed thousands of small-and medium-size businesses seeking vainly for workers at the very peak of unemployment.

Various reasons are provided to explain the situation: They prefer to collect benefits, they decline to take certain jobs because they expect to be recalled by their previous employer, the jobs are inconvenient geographically.

Some frustrated employers suggest another reason: Workers today, they say, don't want just any job to help them through hard times; they want the ideal job or they won't work at all.

Whatever the reason, the phenomenon continues. The Bureau of National Affairs, a private research and publishing concern, found in a survey just published that shortages of workers continue to be reported.

The bureau surveyed the employment situation of a selected list of 200 companies, and found that:

"Office positions, particularly secretaries and stenographers, are difficult to fill in 8 per cent of the companies, and shortages of technical and professional persons are noted by 28 per cent.

"In the latter category, the majority of jobs mentioned are in engineering, with a few companies listing electronic data processing programmers or analysts."

Respondents from the health care industry reported scarcities at all technical and professional levels, the bureau said.

Some geographical differences were reported. Production jobs seemed to be more difficult to fill in the north-central states, office jobs in the West, and technical and professional jobs in the South.

Some observers of the labor scene believe that the level of help-wanted advertising in the nation's newspapers provides a good indication of strength or weakness in job markets in the immediate future.

Earlier this year, for example, an index of job advertising maintained by the Conference Board, showed steady increases, fortelling the drop in unemployment from a high of 9.2 per cent to August's 8.4.

But, just as the job markets were improving in August so was the help-wanted index falling, for the first time in five months. The volume of ads fell in eight of nine regions measured. The increase, a small one, was in the east-north-central region.

What does it mean? In the opinion of Kenneth Goldstein, associate economist for the board, a private organization that attempts to keep a non-partisan view, it means that further improvement in the employment situation, "if any, may be modest in the next few months."

The index, which is based in 1967 figures equaling 100, stood at 82 in August, 32 points below its level of just one year ago.

Says Congress and unions in way of more postal efficiency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress and the postal unions are standing in the way of a more efficient Postal Service, Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar argues.

"For one reason or another, the Congress won't approve of this possibility for saving and the unions won't approve of that one," Bailar said in an interview. "But if we eliminate all the possibilities for saving that would have some distaste for someone, then we're not going to save money anywhere," he said.

Among plans that have aroused opposition on Capitol Hill or among the unions are proposals to eliminate 12,000 rural post offices and to increase the efficiency of delivery routes.

Bailar said these two proposals and others would cut postal costs without hurting service.

"I think our responsibility as public officials would require us to move ahead on reducing costs where it can be done without reducing service. And I plan to do just that," the postmaster general said.

A number of House members at hearings last week expressed opposition to a General Accounting Office recommendation that 12,000 rural post offices be closed. The GAO and the Postal Service say the closing would save $100 million per year without hurting service.

"We ought to do what we can to hold postal rates down, and insisting that the post offices be kept open isn't doing much to hold those costs down," Bailar said.

So far the Postal Service has been moving slowing on closing rural post offices "because we are well aware of the congressional concern," he said.

The proposed changes in delivery routes, known as the Komo plan, involve computer studies of individual mail routes and the subsequent redesign of the routes according to the measurements of the number of letters delivered and the miles walked.

When Bailar announced earlier this month that the Postal Service had decided to implement the plan, the National Association of Letter Carriers immediately asked for arbitration of the issue.

For presidential visit tonight

Chicago police to use metal detectors

CHICAGO (AP) — Police armed with portable metal detectors will be frisking crowds awaiting the arrival of President Ford tonight, the officer in charge of Chicago Police crowd security says.

Meanwhile, police helicopter surveillance will provide backup to more than 1,000 policemen and U.S. Secret Service agents scrutinizing the route of the President's motorcade from O'Hare International Airport to his downtown destination.

An undisclosed number of officers will be using the handheld metal detectors to check for weapons among persons along the motorcade route to downtown, said Chief John McInerney, head of police uniformed patrols. He told reporters the device is similar to detectors used at some smaller airports.

Ford's 18-hour visit, billed officially as a political event and paid for with Republican Party funds, is his first campaign trip outside Washington since the assassination attempt against him Sept. 21 in San Francisco.

In discussing security, McInerney played down a planned increase in the number of officers assigned to the task. He said there will be a small addition, but normal procedure is to use every man feasible.

"Just increasing the number of people wouldn't help... Every possible avenue is normally taken care of," McInerney said.

The exact number of policemen assigned to guard the President on Chicago visits is kept secret but is believed to be around 1,000. An estimated 100 Secret Service agents also are in the city.

A White House spokesman said he did not know of any changes being made in security precautions after Sara Jane Moore was arrested for attempting to shoot Ford last week.

Another woman, Lynette Fromme, was arrested 17 days earlier in Sacramento for attempting to kill the President.

"I'm not certain it will differ at all," the White House spokesman said of security precautions. "I know of no changes in the (Secret Service) agents' approach."

Ford has vowed he will not allow fear of an assassination attempt to restrict his movement despite urgings from congressional leaders that he limit such activity.

Chicago police reported an unidentified caller late Monday night told them he had knowledge of a plot to assassinate Ford when he arrives in Chicago.

Police Communications said the caller, described as a man with a deep voice, said he was not involved but knew that there was a plan to kill Ford when he arrives at the military side of O'Hare International Airport.

The office of deputy superintendent of police reported that the call could not be tracked down but that the Secret Service had been notified.

No plans for additional security were announced immediately as a result of the call.

Ford was scheduled to go directly from the airport to the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago for a GOP fund-raising dinner sponsored by the Illinois Republican Finance Committee.

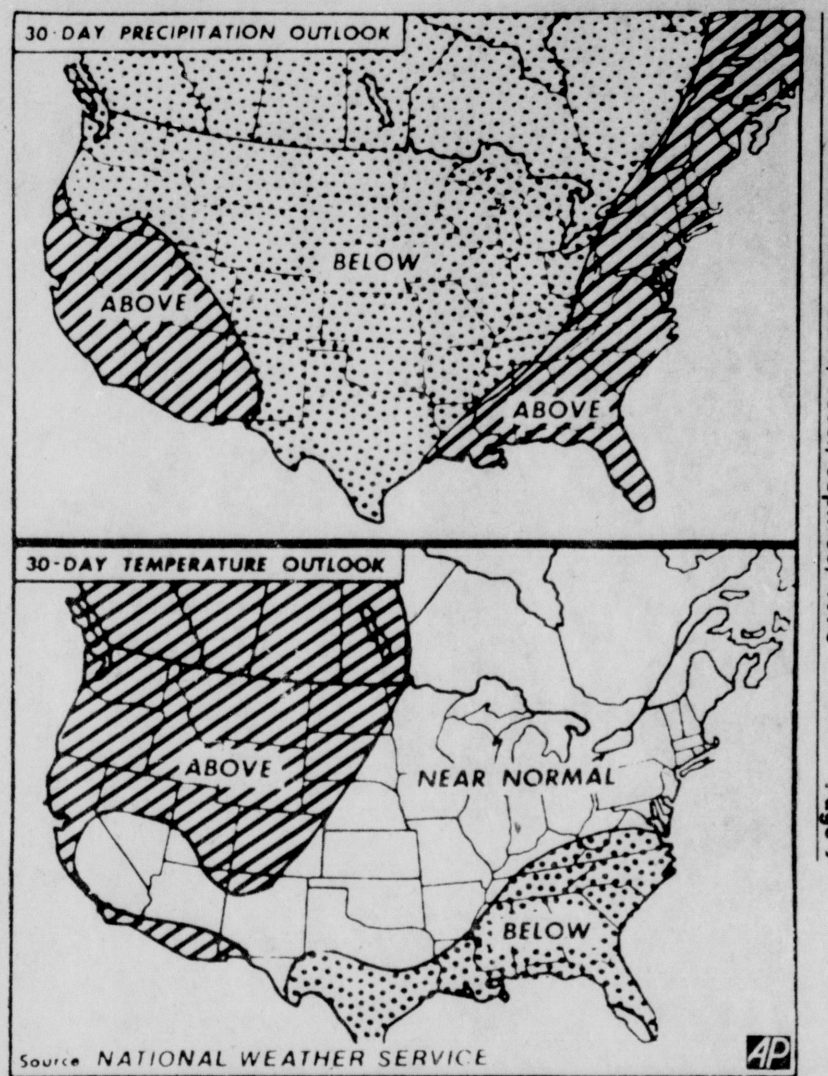

He is scheduled to spend the night at the North Shore Hilton in suburban Skokie and will attend a meeting of about 30 Midwest mayors there Wednesday morning.

The President is not staying in the affluent northern suburb for security reasons but because of a now-canceled speech at Northwestern University in adjacent Evanston, the White House spokesman said.

Despite the recent firing of 34 policemen after a strike in Skokie, the village will be protected adequately during Ford's brief stay, a police spokesman there said. Remaining patrolmen will be working overtime and Chicago and other area police officers will be assisting, he added.

Ford will leave at noon Wednesday for Omaha, Neb., where he will attend a conference on the economy and domestic affairs before returning to Washington.

Senior Party Line

Most of the banks and savings and loan associations in your community are now advertising a program which allows your Social Security check to be mailed directly to them and deposited in an account. Do you have to be 65 to take advantage of this service, or does it apply to other programs as well?— G. F.

Dear Mrs. F:

The new "direct deposit" program, which is taking effect throughout the country, applies to all persons who receive Social Security checks—whether they be retired workers' benefits, disability benefits, or survivors' benefits. In addition, if you receive a monthly Supplemental Security Income check (SSI), it too can be deposited directly in a checking or savings account. So can the "black lung" health benefit checks for coal miners who have become permanently disabled by that occupational disease. The U.S. Treasury Department will not automatically mail these benefit checks to your bank—you must authorize that action by filling out a form at the bank or savings and loan where you have an account. If you don't have an account, and are interested in direct deposit, you'll have to open one. But the program is not just for seniors—it is for the disabled, for SSI recipients, dependents, and others.

What happened to the legislation that is supposed to provide discounts for seniors at state parks?— C. N.

Two bills on this subject passed the legislature this spring, and both have now become law. One of the bills allows persons aged 65 and older, as well as blind and disabled persons, to use the tent and trailer camping facilities of the Illinois Department of Conservation free of charge. A blind or disabled person must meet the definitions of "blind" and "disabled" provided in the Public Aid Code. The Department of Conservation, in implementing the law, will draw up regulations to provide for a way for seniors to show proof of age. Up to now, senior citizens have not enjoyed any discounts at state recreational and camping facilities.

The other bill will provide benefits to persons between the ages of 62 and 65. They will qualify for 50 per cent reductions in camping fees at state Department of Conservation facilities. Those who are at least 62 will be entitled to one camping unit at half price. Either a driver's license or a "Golden Age Passport" which is issued by the National Park Service for national parks and monuments will be accepted as proof of age. The law requires that a notice of the reduced admission will be posted in a conspicuous place. The "Golden Age Passport" gives free admission to persons 62 and older to nationally-run parks, historic sites and monuments, and also provides 50 per cent discounts on recreational fees charged within those areas. You should be hearing more about the new state programs for seniors in the coming months.

Is there anywhere a person can get professional legal advice or assistance at reasonable cost?— E. G.

Dear Miss G:

In general, but unfortunately not enough, communities in Illinois, there are special legal-aid programs for seniors and others. There are a very few which deal specifically with the legal questions and problems of older clients, including matters that might be considered part of "consumer protection."

You should be aware that there is a toll-free number (800-252-8916) for the Illinois Lawyer Referral Service. Seniors calling this number will be referred to a lawyer in their community who will charge no more than $10 for a half-hour consultation. Fees for any additional services, however, would have to be worked out by you and the lawyer.

The Senior Action Center can help you find out if there is a legal-aid program in your area which will offer free or inexpensive service.

Persons may call the toll-free Senior Action Hotline 800-252-8916 with questions or complaints about government agencies or programs or for information about tax relief, health care, food stamps, Social Security, employment, housing or legal aid.

In Dixon persons may call the Lee County Council for Aging 288-2117.

Programs on crime available

ROCHELLE— The Police and Judicial Affairs Committee of the Rochelle Area Chamber of Commerce and the Rochelle Police Department have combined efforts to make available programs to local businesses.

The topics of these presentations are: Bomb Threat, Pilferage, Drugs, Car Theft, Security and Cars, Alcoholics—Driving and the Law.

Some programs are being presented only to management, others to employees.

The presentations include movies, hand-out materials and talks by representatives of the Police Department.

It is hoped that these programs will provide industries with ideas for preventive programs within their own organizations. These presentations also give management some valuable learning tools in knowing how to best cooperate with the local authorities if a problem does arise.

Those companies participating in the series are Caron, Eaton, DelMonte, Blakeslee-Midwest Prestress, Swift and Stokely Van Camp.

"Thrilla in Manila"

"It's gonna be a thrilla in Manila," according to Muhammad Ali, when the world heavyweight boxing champion faces a former titleholder in a bout scheduled for today. Ali and his challenger have battled twice before. Their first fight took place in March, 1971 when Ali was the challenger and lost. In January, 1974 Ali had his revenge in a 12-round non-title bout that ended in a unanimous decision for him. The Manila bout will be held in the 25,000-seat Kranetta Stadium in the Philippines' capital. The two heavyweight contenders will share a purse of over $6 million. In addition, they have made a million-dollar side bet with each other.

DO YOU KNOW — Who is Muhammad Ali's challenger in today's heavyweight championship bout?

Driver faces two charges

OREGON — Calvin V. Paul, 58, Rt. 2, was arrested on two counts Sunday by Ogle County Sheriff's Deputies.

Paul was charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and improper lane usage after patrolling deputies stopped his car east of Oregon on Ill. 64 after it crossed the center line. Paul posted bond and is scheduled to appear in court Oct. 10.

GALENA, Ill. (AP) — The murder trial of Robert H. Lower ended abruptly with the sole defense witness, a psychiatrist, proclaiming the defendant insane but the prosecution calling him responsible for his acts. The judge in the bench trial has promised a verdict Wednesday afternoon.

The 37-year-old Rockford truck driver is accused of the hanging murder of Joseph Didier, 15, a newspaper boy and son of a Rockford alderman. The boy's nude and frozen body was found March 11, eight days after he disappeared while delivering papers near his home.

During closing arguments Monday in Circuit Court, Jo Daviess County Public Defender William Kelly told Judge James B. Vincent that he should find Lower innocent and "get him the help he needs."

Kelly said there was proof of Lower's "unusual and bizarre conduct," and added, "There is a clear record of a man who is sick and very dangerous."

Winnebago County assistant State's Atty. Daniel Doyle, assisting in the prosecution, said the defense was using the insanity plea "because there was no other defense available to them in light of the overwhelming evidence against Lower.

"We don't contend he is normal. He is a sex deviate and has strange sexual interests in his relationships with members of the same sex. But that doesn't make him not responsible for his acts," Doyle said in his closing statement.

The defense called only one witness during the three-day trial, Rockford psychiatrist John G. Graybill, who in 1966 predicted Lower might one day kill a small boy.

Graybill made that assessment in recommending Lower not be released from Menard State Prison, where he had been sent a year earlier for molesting an 11-year-old Freeport youngster.

Lower was given a conditional release in 1966 and a full release in 1971 based on the recommendation of Rockford psychiatrist Dr. Carl H. Hamann.

Graybill said Lower was schizophrenic and unable to conform his behavior to that required by law.

However, Dr. Hamann, called as a witness for the prosecution, testified that he examined Lower in 1966 and again in 1971, as well as in May 1975. He said he found Lower to be "very much in control of his actions."

He said there is no question Lower is a sexually dangerous person but he is not suffering from a mental disease such as schizophrenia or psychosis.

Lower was arrested March 21 and charged with murdering the boy. During the trial, a signed four-page confession which he gave to police shortly after his arrest was admitted as evidence.

Tips for the New Bride

Furnishing a new home or apartments is one of the first homemaking tasks to be faced by the new bride. Here are some tips to make that task a little easier.

The best way to tackle that first decorating job is to start with a floorplan or sketch of each room. As you shop, color in the furniture you'd like to buy. Thus, you can see if the colors and sizes you have in mind will fit well in your room. Don't rush your choice of furniture. Shop around a bit. We at DUNBAR are proud of the furniture we sell... we welcome customers who ask questions, read tags, and check for quality. If you can't afford quality pieces right away, why not buy one at a time? Our home decorating counselors will help you plan your decorating scheme around the piece you can afford now. When you're ready to add to your furnishings, we'll help you coordinate the new pieces with the old. And we're trained to work within your budget, of course.

Our Design Counselors welcome your visit... we won't plan to visit us. Do it today.

NCIC season gets underway

Teams playing for keeps

By MIKE CUNIFF
Telegraph Sports Editor

The NCIC season got underway last Friday so all the teams in the Dixon Evening Telegraph circulation area are now playing for keeps in search of enough victories to insure a place in the Illinois High School Association football playoffs in November.

All leagues except the NCIC had already begun their conference schedules with the playoff berth possibilities being funneled down to a certain few teams that keep winning. The conference champions in each of the five classes plus second-place finishers and independents that achieve an .800 winning percentage could qualify.

Out of Contention

Most leagues have several teams already out of contention with a number of squads battling for the top spot in the standings. Sterling, LaSalle-Peru and Streator opened NCIC Northeast action successfully with the Golden Warriors blanking Kewanee 28-0, L.P. bombing Ottawa 56-0 and Streator edging the Dukes 7-6.

Sterling had a 7-0 at half but then put the game away with three second-half touchdowns to defeat Kewanee. Mike Davis tallied on a 15-yard pass for the first Golden Warriors score with Kent Carl falling on a fumble, Wes Williams going 21 and 12 yards for the remaining Sterling touchdowns.

Williams ended with 17 attempts and 103 yards while Rod Anderson picked up 95 yards in 19 carries. Kewanee was limited to 19 yards rushing and 95 passing. The Golden Warriors ended with 282 and 55, respectively.

Merriman Scores

L-P routed Ottawa as Ed Merriman bolted across from the three and six yard lines for the Cavaliers while Andy Rios also tallied twice on short runs. Merriman racked up 146 yards rushing in 15 chances. Rios added 108 yards in the same number of carries.

Bob Ochse scored on a two-yard dash and Bill Manley on a one-yard plunge to round out the L-P touchdowns. Scott Piecha flipped two conversion passes to Paul Innis and also added two points on a conversion run. L-P totaled 393 yards rushing.

In the NCIC Southwest, Geneseo slipped by Mendota 20-6. Rochelle blanked Rock Falls 26-0 and Princeton edged Hall 15-14. Geneseo rallied from a 6-0 deficit to upend Mendota as fullback Wayne Strader carried 24 times (out of 43 rushes by the Maple Leafs) for a net of 148 yards and two touchdowns.

236 Yards Rushing

The Maple Leafs picked up 236 yards rushing while limiting Mendota to 92 in 40 attempts. Paul DePauw grabbed a 41-yard scoring strike from Dave Wilson for the other Geneseo six-pointer. It was the only successful pass of the evening for Wilson. Tim Densing tallied the Mendota touchdown and ended with 52 rushing markers.

Princeton got by Hall on a conversion pass to Randy Staton in the second quarter. The winners had touchdowns by Garry Pinter (27-yard run) and an 11-yard reverse by Staton. Hall tallied as Bud Mathews went four yards and Doug DeSerf eight.

In the Little Eight, Annawan and Depeu remained tied for first place as the Braves blanked Tampico 28-0 while the Little Giants routed Wyanet 63-8 on Saturday. Ohio dumped Tiskilwa from the unbeaten ranks with a 40-12 triumph while LaMoille battered winless Neponset 50-0.

Opens the Scoring

Randy Childs opened the Annawan scoring with a 10-yard run. Joe Koenig went in from the five and John Hasbrook from the six for the Braves, who are now 3-0. Mark Crosby topped off the scoring with a six-yard pass interception. Annawan ended with 183 yards rushing and 75 passing against figures of 62 and 13, respectively, for Tampico (0-3).

LaMoille bombed Neponset as Kevin Stremlau tallied twice while Larry Fetzter, Paul Magnuson, Al Pattenauer and Brad Geuther scored once each. The victory boosted LaMoille's conference slate to 2-1.

Depeu upped its unblemished Little Eight record to 3-0 with the crushing of Wyanet. Ohio, LaMoille and Tiskilwa all share second place in the standings with 2-1 ledgers while Wyanet, Neponset and Tampico are still searching for their first wins.

Into a Tie

Newman moved into a first place tie with the Fulton Steamers in the Three Rivers with a 25-12 verdict over the Savanna Indians. Fulton went out of the conference to beat St. Mary's of Clinton 20-14. Prophetstown also had a non-conference foe and was whipped 41-6 by North Scott.

In other Three Rivers action, Amboy got by Morrison 14-13 to even its conference ledger at 1-1 while Riverdale also upped its record to 1-1 with a 35-14 pounding of Erie. Riverdale's Marty Hurry scored on five and four-yard runs while Mike Loy caught a 30-yard pass and ran 85 yards for another pair of touchdowns.

Ron Nelson galloped 32 yards for the final Riverdale six-pointer. Pat Dillon grabbed a three-yard pass and Kelvin Meyer dashed three yards for Erie. The winners piled up 320 yards rushing.

In the Mid-North

In the Mid-North, Polo took over undisputed first place as the Marcos got by Mt. Morris 22-19 and Forreston was stunned 22-6 by Stillman Valley. Winnebago blanked Pecatonica 29-0 for its first win while Oregon just got by Byron 26-22 despite an 83-yard Jim Landis pass to Todd Tallman and a 64-yard screen pass from Landis to Doug Raber.

The Marcos now stand 3-0 in Mid-North results with Mt. Morris and Forreston both 2-1. Stillman Valley is 1-0-2. Oregon and Winnebago have identical 1-1-1 ledgers with Byron and Pecatonica 0-3 each.

Princeville also took over first place in its league — the Blackhawks — as previous co-leaders Toulon and Manlius were upset. Princeville upped its slate to 4-0 with a 42-12 decision against Elmwood while Toulon lost 41-26 to Western and Wyoming dropped Manlius 22-8.

Tied for Second

Toulon, Manlius and Western currently are tied for second with 3-1 ledgers with Wyoming 2-1-1. Princeville had a 36-0 halftime lead as Rod Butler tossed a six-yard strike to Brad Orrill, 49 yards to Jeff King, threw conversion passes to Dave Colgan plus Pete Haynes and scored himself on a run.

Dan Clark went 32 yards and Bill Allen 13 while Jim Ostrom tallied on a one-yard plunge for the Princes, in search of their third consecutive Blackhawk title. Steve Rynearson grabbed a 47-yard pass and Gary Snyder returned an interception 20 yards for the Elmwood touchdowns.

Wyoming upset Manlius as Terry Stahl scampered 11 yards and Don Knobloch recovered a Manlius fumble during the first quarter. Dean Kitterman connected with Joe Colgan for 47 yards and six points in the second quarter. Manlius averted a shutout as Rod Johnson ran back a pass interception 91 yards.

Hartz Gets Three

Western got three touchdowns from senior halfback Dave Hartz (74, 61 and 13 yards), plus six-pointers each from Dennis Frank (47 yards), Greg Mahnesmith (67) and Joe Olson (42) on fumble returns. Al Gray zipped passes of 60 yards to Dave Ketron and 55 yards to John Williams while Jim Simpson scored twice on dashes of three and 12 yards for Toulon.

Bradford got out of the basement by dropping Walnut 14-12. A two-point conversion run by the Blue Raiders was stopped short in the fourth quarter after Ken Wilcoxon tallied his first touchdown of the season on a one-yard plunge.

In the Upstate Illini, Milledgeville and Leaf River remain deadlocked for the league lead with 3-0 slates while Pearl City, Orangeville and Hanover are all 2-1. Milledgeville got by Pearl City 38-20, Orangeville knocked off Mt. Carroll 14-8, Hanover blanked Rockford Lutheran 20-0, Durand crushed Ashton 44-0 and Leaf River got by Franklin Center 26-20.

Milledgeville Touchdowns

Chuck Geary went four and one yards for Milledgeville touchdowns. Bob Edlund tallied from the four, Dan Wolf from the three and Jeff Adolph scored on a one-yard fumble recovery. The losers had touchdowns from Todd Sheppard on a 36-yard dash, Chet Marcum on a nine-yard run and Brent Smith on a 36-yard pass.

Kurt Leuck passed 54 yards to Jeff Jordan and then tallied on a 28-yard run to lead Orangeville past Mt. Carroll. Richard Haag tossed a four-yard touchdown aerial to Gary Derrickson for the losers' touchdown.

Pat Sheridan fired touchdown passes of 72 yards to Tom Sullivan, 21 yards to Greg Bonner and 14 yards to Larry Johnson as Hanover blanked Lutheran. Sheridan ended with 10 completions in 13 throws for 148 yards.

The Area Schedule

'Old Perfesser' is dead

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — The "Old Perfesser" is dead. Casey Stengel, one of baseball's most colorful and adored figures, succumbed to cancer Monday night at the age of 85 — leaving a golden legacy for fans of all ages.

"It's just impossible to sum up what he's been to baseball," said a close friend, California Angel General Manager Harry Dalton, after learning of Stengel's death at Glendale Memorial Hospital.

"He popularized our game with so many people."

Stengel died at 10:58 p.m.,

PDT — only a few hours after a close friend had disclosed that the onetime manager had a rapidly spreading malignancy in the lymph glands. Stengel had been admitted to the hospital on Sept. 14 for tests.

The funeral arrangements are incomplete. He is survived by his widow, Edna, whom he married in 1924. They had no children.

Stengel was a breathing legend. Perhaps more than any other figure in the history of the game, he earned the title of baseball's goodwill ambassador.

Casey raced into the Hall of Fame with his baseball exploits but it was only a small part of his exquisite contribution to the game he loved.

There are more diamond-like Stengel stories around than you can shake a bat at and countless witticisms from the language of "Stengelse" which he created with his gloriously fertile imagination.

Stengel never would say in a few words what he could say in a couple of hundred and anytime the grand old man of baseball held court, he always had his audience spellbound.

Frosh are 4-0

By JIM FOX

Telegraph Sports Writer Bill Commons tallied 95 yards in the second half and set up an insurance touchdown as the unbeaten Dixon Dukes freshman squad rolled past the Newman Comets 24-6 at A. C. Bowers Field Monday evening. The little Dukes are now 4-0 on the season.

Commons, 6'0"—155 big fullback, gained an unofficial 153 yards on 17 carries, picking up 58 markers in the first half and 95 on 10 carries in the latter half. The ground-eating fullback virtually outran and, when necessary, ran over would-be Newman tacklers in the underclassmen battle.

Dixon grabbed the lead initially in the opening period of action, on a 22-yard touchdown pass from Kevin Knack to Randy Ortgiesen. Knack hit Dave Klamen on the conversion pass to put the Dukes ahead 8-0.

Newman's only score of the evening came on a 50-yard burst by Ted Hannan late in the first quarter. The extra-point attempt failed and Newman found itself down 8-6, a margin the Comets were never to catch.

With but :39 remaining in the first half, Knack plunged over from one yard out as the Dukes took a "breathing room" lead. Klamen pulled in a Knack pass on the conversion, to give the underclassmen a 16-6 half-time lead.

Dixon took full command in the second half, retaining ball possession 19 of the 24 minutes. The freshmen controlled the clock for nine minutes on one possession, driving for 46 yards, but failed a fourth down situation and were forced to turn the ball over to the Comets.

Newman could do nothing on its series as the determined Duke defense smothered any possible ground attack. The Comets punted to Dixon as the third period came to a close, with the Dukes taking over at midfield.

Commons capped off a seven-play, 50-yard march, gaining 42 yards on three carries while Jamie Robbins chipped in with three markers on three carries, placing the ball on the Comets five-yard line. Rick Paisley teamed up with Klamen on a TD pass that found the lanky freshman receiver wide open in the end zone. Commons stepped across on the conversion run, as Dixon won going away 24-6.

"Our offensive timing was off tonight," commented head coach Herb Jennings in the locker room after his team's fourth consecutive victory in as many games. "This was due to the absence of half-backs (Steve) Koch and (Dave) Cole, who are out with injuries."

"But our defense played a real good game. They've been tough all year. And Commons had a very fine night on the ground, especially when he got going in the second half."

The Dukes "B" squad downed Newman's second string 8-0 on a one-foot dive into the end zone by Mark Moss-holder. Paisley connected to John Sagmoe on the two-point conversion.

Hubbs and Flanagan opened with a 6-2, 1-6 and 6-3 decision over Ristau and Uranich of LaSalle-Peru and then defeated Muus and Riley of Ottawa 6-1 and 6-1 in the semifinals. Hubbs and Flanagan took the title with a 6-2 and 7-5 triumph over Austin and Beerman of Rochelle.

Flynn opened with a 6-0 and 6-1 triumph against Kathy Lawes of DeKalb and then got by Julie Ecklund of East Rockford 6-0 and 6-1. In the semifinals, Flynn dropped a 6-3 and 6-2 verdict to Cathy Coin of Rock Island. Paula Mitchell of Ottawa beat Flynn 6-4 and 6-2 for third place.

Curnutte lost her first singles match — a 6-1 and 6-0 match to Becky Kasik of L-P but then beat Stacy Fulton of DeKalb 6-1 and 6-4 plus Mary Hanusquic of East Rockford 6-1 and 6-1 to get to the consolation finals where she lost 6-2 and 6-1 to Guilford's Nancy Smith.

Fall plowing in progress

A worker for Del Monte foods is shown as he was plowing in the Kingdom area over the weekend. The huge tractor being used was a diesel-powered four-wheel-drive model. It was pulling five 18-inch plows. Del Monte is plowing the area to catch winter moisture. The field will be disced in the spring and a crop of peas planted. (Telegraph Photo)

Acid treatment for corn to give open storage

Acid-treated corn is as good, but no better, for beef cattle than regular high-moisture corn stored in a sealed structure, says Burt Weichenthal, University of Illinois Extension beef specialist.

Recently, University of Illinois researchers treated 25 per cent moisture corn with 0.8 per cent propionic acid and stored it on a cement slab with a roof over it. Comparable untreated corn was stored in a Harvestore.

Rate of gain and feed conversion in growing-finishing heifers were essentially the same for the acid-treated and the regular high-moisture corn fed during the 140-day trial. The acid-treated corn was rolled before feeding and no spoilage was observed, Weichenthal adds.

Apparently, acid-treated corn can also be fed satisfactorily as whole corn in self-feeders. In Iowa State University comparisons, cattle performed similarly when fed propionic acid-treated corn mixed with dehydrated alfalfa pellets and protein supplement in self-feeders or when fed corn silage once daily in fence line bunks. The acid-treated corn in the self-feeders required occasional agitation.

The Iowa State study also showed that ammonium isobutyrate was just as effective as propionic acid in preserving high-moisture corn.

Grain preservatives are not needed if air is excluded for the stored high-moisture corn. But cattle usually perform better when high-moisture corn is stored whole rather than ground.

Acid-treated whole corn will keep in any open structure. But a roof may be desirable in this part of the country, says Weichenthal.

The 48 million members of the credit unions throughout the world borrowed almost $28 billion dollars from their credit unions during the past year.

Crop production estimates down

By M.B. KIRKLEY

The September 1 crop estimates were down from those of August 1, and were moderately lower than those generally expected. The corn crop was estimated at 5,687 million bushels, down 163 million from a month ago. The estimate for the average yield in Illinois was up one bushel, and now stands at 110 bushels per acre. The Indiana figure was unchanged: an average of 100 bushels per acre. The reductions were west of the Mississippi. The Iowa estimate was reduced from 91 to 86 bushels per acre, Missouri from 72 to 63, and Nebraska from 88 to 86 bushels per acre, on the average.

The estimates for oats, barley, and grain sorghums were all reduced slightly. The total feed-grain production was estimated at 201.1 million tons — down three per cent from a month ago, but up 22 per cent from the 1974 figure of 165.1 million tons.

The soybean crop was estimated at 1,442 million bushels — down one per cent from the August estimate, but up 17 per cent from 1974. The Illinois yield estimate was unchanged from a month ago, still at 35 bu.

Businessmen farmers plan annual banquet

Presentation of the Ogle County Conservation Farmer of the Year Award will be made at the 22nd Annual Farmers and Businessmen's Banquet which will take place Oct. 9. This event, sponsored by the Ogle County Soil and Water Conservation District, will have as speaker Ray White, National President of The Seventh Step, an organization founded by convicts to aid convicts to learn to help themselves, to change nonproductive and destructive patterns of criminal behavior with the help of ordinary citizens.

Wilbur L. Bowman, chairman of the Ogle County Soil and Water Conservation District, announces that the banquet is scheduled for 7 p.m. at St. Mary Community Center.

shells per acre; Iowa was unchanged at 31; Indiana, unchanged at 32; and Missouri at 24, was down two bushels per acre.

The Sept. 1 crop estimates are more reliable indicators of the final crop size than those of August 1 because the crop is further along. However, the harvest still lies ahead, and final crop sizes are not known. The next estimate will be released on October 10.

The decrease of three per cent in the estimate on feed-grain production does not change the fundamental circumstance. We are now moving from a situation of relative scarcity caused by the short 1974 crops to one of relative abundance. There is enough corn and the other feed grains to permit exports as large as our physical capacity to load ships — a 10 to 12 per cent increase in domestic feed utilization, and a restoration of carry-over stocks back up to comfortable levels.

For the next several months, corn prices will depend on how great the pressure of sales at harvest is and on farmers' attitudes about holding their grain. Then, there will be a period in which the dominant influence will be the rate of use. Corn futures prices indicate cash corn prices at Chicago in the general area of $3 a bushel during the first half of 1976. In the first half of 1975, $3 Chicago corn resulted in major cuts in the rate of feeding. Current prices may be too high to encourage the increased use that the crop size permits.

During the spring and summer of 1976, corn prices will be influenced by attitudes toward owning the carryover. These attitudes will depend on how large the 1976 crops seem likely to be and on how people view owning commodities versus owning money.

The cut in the crop estimate will further postpone an increase in livestock production and greater meat supplies. Consumer meat prices will stay strong longer than they would have otherwise.

The soybean estimate of 1,442 million bushels is not of fundamental market significance. The crop is large enough to permit an increase of 161 million bushels — 15 per cent, in crush and export, with the carryover unchanged at the current, abundant level. Soybeans face increasing competition from abroad, particularly from palm oil and Brazilian soybeans.

The Doctor Says:

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB—I am a compulsive overeater. I try everything, then I'll go on a binge and eat myself to death. Is there any way to remove or kill my taste buds so I won't get any satisfaction or enjoyment from food? I really think it would be worth it. I need your help desperately.

DEAR READER—The factors that cause you to eat are much more complex than that. It is true that if people eat food they don't like they are more successful in losing weight, but the story doesn't end there.

Many people eat too much as part of their habit pattern—eating when bored, to socialize, when frustrated, because it is that time of day or to reward oneself.

There is a center in the brain that tells you to eat or not to eat. It responds to your level of blood sugar (glucose). Regardless of whether you feel full or food tastes good or not, if your blood glucose level is low you will be hungry, and as your glucose level rises your hunger diminishes. Cutting out all your taste buds won't change that.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My question is should people on a low-fat diet eat pork? They eat all the beef they want. The fat in beef is much harder than the fat in pork. If all the fat is trimmed off before cooking I cannot see why one kind is not as safe to eat as the other. To some of us who have hiatal hernia the pork is more easily digested. I would very much like to have your opinion on this matter.

DEAR READER—Even after you cut away all the visible fat there is still fat in meat. It is in the actual muscle fiber themselves, and you can't see it.

It makes a lot of difference which cut of beef or pork you are talking about. You can get an idea by looking at the per cent of fat by weight in various cuts of raw meat after all the visible fat has been removed:

Round Steak	Pct.
Rump	4.7
T-Bone Steak (choice)	7.5
Chuck Rib	8.1
Ham	11.0
Pork Loin	7.5
Light cured Boston butt	12.3

The separable lean ham is about the leanest cut of pork, and many other cuts have a great deal more fat, some of which is difficult to remove before cooking.

Those low percentage figures do not mean low-fat foods. Because of the high water content of meat (70 per cent) 31 per cent of the calories in raw, separable, lean round steak are from fat and 52 per cent from the chuck rib. Over 44 per cent of the calories in the separable lean of ham and 55.5 per cent of the light cured Boston butt are from fat. It makes a lot of difference whether you are talking about per cent of weight or per cent of total calories.

Yes, there is a tiny bit more polyunsaturated fat in pork than there is in beef, but not enough to make a great difference. You can use the lean cuts of ham and the lean cuts of beef in moderation. Lean round steak and flank steak are rather low in fat even when rated in terms of calories.

There is no evidence that pork is better for patients with hiatal hernia than beef. The management of hiatal hernia depends on a lot of other well-established principles.
